WE BRING OUR CLIENT'S VISION TO LIFE

OUR PEOPLE

Coffey Projects personnel have qualifications in project management, property management, business management, engineering, building science, architecture, quantity surveying, facility management and project cost control. We are able to provide detailed and personalised project and development services with the backing of an international corporate identity.

Through the services and experience of its personnel, Coffey Projects is able to provide a wide ranging and comprehensive service, covering all aspects of a project from early feasibility to final handover. Our team is experienced in working with clients and contractors to develop time and cost efficient construction methodologies.

All of our project managers are committed professionals and take personal responsibility for project delivery. This 'ownership' ensures that your project objectives and outcomes are achieved. These defining attributes have been proven to consistently add value, borne out by the numerous long-term relationships which we have established with our local and international clients.

"Problem solving is a function of understanding the issue and then learning to look at it from different perspectives.

The answer is always there, if you know how to look for it."

Our professional development programs are another way we lead the industry. We can claim some of the world's most experienced project management facilitators, and that's one of the reasons the Project Management Institute has accredited us as a global registered education provider.

Coffey Projects aligns with IPMA (International Project Management Association) which is recognised worldwide. Its four tiered competency based accreditation system addresses the project management, IQ and EQ components of managing projects. IPMA's focus on behavioural competencies is key for Coffey Projects. We are seeking accreditation for all our project managers and believe this professional foundation will contribute in delivering exceptional service and innovative solutions to our clients.

OUR QUALITY ASSURANCE

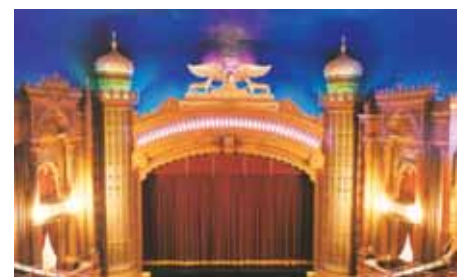

Coffey Projects holds quality assurance accreditation with SAI Global, an ISO9001:2008 Certification.

Coffey Projects achieves quality assurance through implementation of its detailed project management system and a rigorous service delivery program. Integrated into this process is a documented system for meeting the mandatory requirements of an AS/NZS ISO 9001:2008 quality management system. This is supported by an audit cycle incorporating project self-assessment; Coffey Projects internal audit programs and SAI Global external audits.

While Coffey Projects operates within standardised project management protocols and systems, these systems are designed to be flexible enough to be tailored to the individual needs of our clients and projects.
